Profile

Nan Tull at Akin Gallery

Crossroads II, 1987, oil & wax on linen & canvas, 90" x 53"

The exhibit of Nan Tull's new work will open on October 27 and will be on view through November 25.

Tull, who formerly painted under the name Nan Wezniak, last year received a Massachusetts Artist's Foundation Fellowship in drawing and a Finalist Award in painting. She also received a Traveling Fellowship from the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston and this year was named a Vermont Studio Colony Fellow. She has exhibited at the DeCordova, Brockton and Berkshire Museums and the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston.

Tull's paintings of essential forms are drawn from her close observation of nature and ancient art objects. Magnified and transformed through color and surface, the shapes, by filling the canvas, acquire a new identity both succinct and mysterious.

The Akin Gallery is located at 476 Columbus Avenue in Boston's South End. Gallery hours are Tuesday through Saturday 11 to 6pm and Thursday until 8pm. Please call 617-266-3535 for further information.
